Retrospective Sprint 8

Supervisor: David Gregory

What was done?

The first week of sprint 8 was interrupted by another examination and no work was then done.

Week two, as previously decided, were supposed to be dedicated for documentation. However, a lot of time have been spent on interfaces since development begun very late.

In hindsight, we have been panicking a lot the last week, but we believe that we have delivered a fault-tolerant, stable, and qualitative product aimed toward a large market.

The table bellow displays what functionality we have aimed for. Explanations and possible question marks will be straighten out by reading supplied final documentation.

Function	Android	Desktop (C#)	Web page
List view	X	X	X
Detailed stock view	X	X	X
Market index view	X	X	X
My stocks	X	X	X

Multiple users (not mandatory)	X	-	Done till presentation
Stock related news (not mandatory)	X	-	Done till presentation

What shall be done?

Celebrating christmas. Drinking a few beers and have a splendid time with family.

Other than that we shall prepare our presentation and finalise details on all interfaces. No changes will be made to the ETL or other architectural areas.
